Financialized Gentrification, Demoviction, and Landlord Tactics To Demobilize Tenant Organizing
Andrew Crosby | Geoforum
"The financialization of rental housing has received increasing scholarly attention following the global financial crisis 2007-2009. This article contributes to understandings of the strategies of landlords to incorporate the demoviction as a technique of financialized gentrification and displacement."

21st-century Capitalism: Structural Challenges for Universal Health Care
Susan K. Sell | Globalization and Health
"The structural perspective outlined here sheds light on some of the fundamental challenges involved in achieving Universal Health Care (UHC) in this twenty-first-century era of trade and financialized capitalism. This commentary explores connections between the structure of twenty-first-century capitalism and challenges to achieving UHC, discussing three features of today's capitalism: financialized capitalism; trade, intangibles and global value chains; and inequality..."

When Illiberals Embrace Human Rights
Alexandra Huneeus | AJIL Unbound
"A topic motivating much research since 2016 is the turn away from international law caused by a surge in non-liberal and nationalist governments across the world. In the realm of human rights law, scholars have noted how states are now more apt to repudiate, resist, or simply ignore their human rights obligations."

Climate Finance and Disclosure for Institutional Investors: Why Transparency Is Not Enough
Nadia Ameli, Paul Drummond, et al | Climatic Change
"The finance sector's response to pressures around climate change has emphasized disclosure, notably through the recommendations of the Financial Stability Board’s Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD). The implicit assumption—that if risks are fully revealed, finance will respond rationally and in ways aligned with the public interest—is rooted in the efficient market hypothesis...applied to the finance sector and its perception of climate policy...."

Privatizing Police Discretion—'Private Security Criminal Investigations’ in Sweden
Peter Stiernstedt | Policing: A Journal of Policy and Practice
"This article highlights the commodification of private security criminal investigations in Sweden. Today, the reach of the private security industry extends to almost all responsibilities traditionally reserved for the police...Police discretion as to whether or not to proceed with an investigation is effectively for sale."

China's Carbon Capture, Utilization and Storage (CCUS) Policy: A Critical Review
Kai Jiang | Renewable and Sustainable Energy Reviews
"...China’s CCUS policy is insufficient for further development of the technology and many issues remain to be solved. This includes the lack of an enforceable legal framework, insufficient information for the operationalization of projects, weak market stimulus, and a lack of financial subsidies."

Towards a Political Economy of Charging Regimes: Fines, Fees and Force in Uk Immigration Control
Jon Burnett, Fidelis Chebe | The British Journal of Criminology
"...This paper consequently examines the functions of charging regimes as a distinct form of statecraft, focussing its attention on UK Visas and Immigration fees and charges, carrier sanctions, charges related to accessing services and civil penalties administered though immigration enforcement...It suggests that they contribute to the political economy of financial power, which has significant implications for understandings of criminalization and immigration enforcement."
Partnering With Extremists: Coalitions Between Mainstream and Far-Right Parties in Western Europe
Kimberly A Twist | University of Michigan Press

“Parties do not care equally about all issues at any given time, and this book demonstrates that far-right parties will agree to support the mainstream right’s goals more readily than many other parties, making them appealing partners.”

Militarization: A Reader
Roberto J. González | Duke University Press Books

“The book probes militarism’s ideologies, including those that valorize warriors, armed conflict, and weaponry... and outlines contemporary militarization processes at work around the world.”

Pure Adulteration: Cheating on Nature in the Age of Manufactured Food
Benjamin R. Cohen | University of Chicago Press

“How could you tell the food you bought was the food you thought you bought? Could something manufactured still be pure?”

The Impossibility of Black Sovereignty
Merve Fejzula | Black Perspectives

“Part of what makes the Liberian and Ethiopian examples so instructive (and all her other examples) are their ability to highlight the way imperial interventions were conducted within international institutions designed to check arbitrary exercises of power.”

Colonial Governance, Modernization, And The Process Of Informalization In Accra
Jennifer Hart | The Metropole

“While it is tempting to label this process of informalization a byproduct of the particular violence and injustice of colonialism, I would argue that informalization is a consequence of modernization itself.”

The Growth of Healthcare Capitalism
Lee Humber | Tribune Magazine

“Across the world, private healthcare corporations are growing in power - and will fundamentally undermine public healthcare within a generation if they are not challenged.”

The Intellectual Spoils of War? Defense R&D, Productivity and International Spillovers
Enrico Moretti, Claudia Steinwender, John Van Reenen | NBER

“Increases in government-funded R&D for an industry or a firm result in significant increases in private sector R&D in that industry or firm. A 10% increase in government-financed R&D generates 4.3% additional privately funded R&D.”

Why Austerity? The Mass Politics of a Contested Policy
Kirk Bansak | University of California

“Support for austerity is highly contingent on the specific features of the policy. This paper predicts support for historical austerity programs and find that public approval of austerity likely reflects governments' strategic crafting of policy packages.”

Games of the XXII Olympiad As an Instrument of Soviet Cultural Diplomacy
Igor Orlov | Higher School of Economics

“The 1980 Olympiad in Moscow (the first Olympiad in Eastern Europe and the socialist state) is viewed through the prism of the successes and failures of the cultural and sports diplomacy of the Soviet state.”
VIDEOS

Radical Commitments
Angela Davis | Harvard University
"A discussions on the rich tradition of activism and social theory in the late 20th century using the life and work of the political activist and pioneering philosopher Angela Davis."

Overcoming Extreme Inequality and Its Evils
Sanjay Reddy | Yale University
"How economics can understand and address excessive inequality? Reflecting on the Randomized Controlled Trials advocated by recent Nobel Laureates Duflo, Banerjee and Kremer while advocating attention to the larger, structural drivers of inequality."

Plan the Planet - Is Law From the Holocene?
Davor Vidas, Alain Pottage | Architectural Association School of Architecture London
"Law is inscribed on the earth as an horizon: the intersection between lines of sight and the surface of the planet. The horizon both fixes a location and establishes a backdrop. It marks a position and an escape."

PODCASTS

The Immigration Industrial Complex
Tanya Golash-Boza | Immigrant Song
"This episode argues that maintaining a flow of undocumented immigrants in and out of the United States means big money for many companies."

Beyond Capitalist Education
Eli Meyerhoff | This Is Hell!
"A call to deromanticize education and reframe universities as terrains of struggle between alternative modes of studying and world-making."

Radical Imagination Police Abolition
Angela Glover Blackwell | The Race and Wealth Podcast
"As cases of police abuse and misconduct gain attention, activists have moved beyond calls for reform to advocate for the abolition of police. How would it work, exactly?"